Be informed about the conditions.

Know your own physical, mental and technical abilities and your restrictions. Adjust your plans accordingly. In this way, you can prevent problems that might cause personal injuries or injuries to others. All trails have been marked with level of difficulty. Make sure to be well informed about the terrain/weather conditions. Take enough food and drinks for your intended hike. Bring a cell phone. Inform people of your itinerary and your expected time of return.

Avoid hiking alone. Hike in a group consisting of at least two fellow hikers. In case of an accident, one person will then be able to stay with the injured while the other goes for help. Do not disturb the environment by shouting or playing loud music.

There are some very basic Hiking Tips & Etiquette that ensure that your hiking experience does not damage the natural environment or the experience of fellow hikers. They are all common sense and they take little to no effort to follow. Be a good ambassador of hiking and take the following guidelines into account.
